

tieclip

facebook.com/tieclip
twitter.com/tiecliphq
benhodes@tiecliphq.com

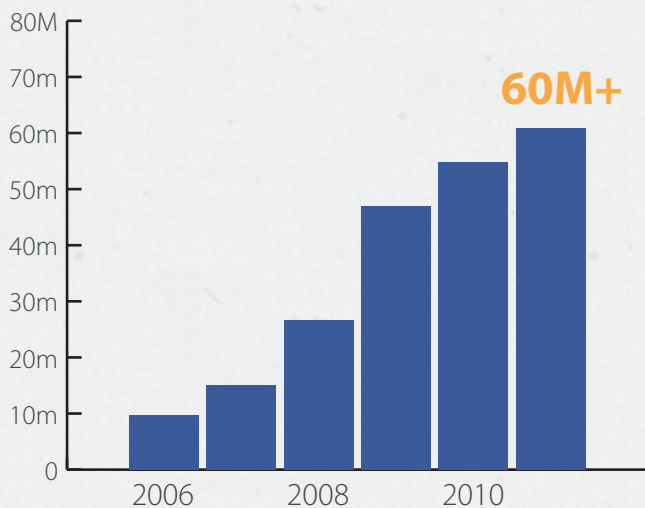

Tieclip is Pandora for craigslist, just with less music and few more used blenders.

See, instead of telling us what kinds of songs you like, simply give tieclip an example of something you've been meaning to buy, like an HDTV or a new road bike.

The helpful tieclip robot will then scour Craigslist for items that match your sample and compile them into a neat little web-app for quick sorting and filtering.

It couldn't be easier, and we think you'll be really pleased with the results.

Over 60 Million new items are listed on craigslist every month.<sup>(1)</sup>

Tieclip helps you sort through the bullshit to find exactly what you want.

For more information, or just to kick the tires, checkout <http://tiecliphq.com>

(1) <http://startup-review.com/blog/craigslist-case-study.php>
<http://answers.com/topic/craigslist>
http://wired.com/entertainment/theweb/magazine/17-09/ff\_craigslist